

Art Club News

The entries for the Christmas card competition have been handed in and here is one of them. I have heard that there were many amazing and creative entries and wish good luck to all those who have entered.

Meanwhile, the art club have been busy making papier-mâché sweets for the school play 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory'.

They are all so individually different and extremely colourful; when they are finished they will look good enough to eat! I'm sure the drama department will be grateful for their contribution of these large beautifully made and decorated sweets.
